Welcome to the summer!

Now that the weather has turned warmer, I hope you get a chance to see how beautiful our Town looks. The Circle, East Market Street, and Wilson Park, are worth taking in and enjoying.

Our 2023 Summer Concert Series has started. Please come out to Sandhill Fields on Thursday evenings to enjoy music, friends, food, and ice cream. This year's music selections offer something for everyone.

Construction on the new Sussex County Family Court Facility has begun. The footers are being installed and soon we will see vertical construction begin. This facility will have a great impact on the Town and our businesses.

The long anticipated rehabilitation of Market Street and Bedford Street has begun. The initial focus has been repairing sidewalks, handicap ramps, and other curbing issues. This will be followed by pavement rehabilitation, anticipated to commence this month.

Our Pallet Village continues to make a difference for formerly homeless individuals. Approximately 45 people are now living with safety and security. Several have obtained employment and are working to secure permanent housing. We have already had people move out and into permanent housing.

I hope that you have noticed the commercial growth along Dupont Boulevard. Our new Wawa and Mach-1 Car Wash just opened and Auto Zone is under construction. Please take advantage of these new businesses as well as the long time existing businesses.

In closing, please remember we have a great town and many volunteers. The residents and visitors make Georgetown, "Well Rounded." Thanks to everybody for your support and volunteerism for our Town. Now sit back, relax, and enjoy life.

Upcoming Georgetown Library Events...

- Summer Reading Series - Cascading Carlos the Juggler, Tuesday, July 18 at Sandhill Fields
- Preserving War Letters: Wednesday, July 26, 5:30-7:00pm. Journalist Nancy E. Lynch, author of the award-winning social history, Vietnam Mailbag, Voices From the War: 1968-1972, will present "Preserving War Letters: Touchstones of Time" at 5:30 p.m. on July 26 at the Georgetown Public Library. Underwritten by a grant from Delaware Humanities, Lynch's program is sponsored by the library. Lynch will discuss the relevance today of selected correspondence from her book, based on nearly 1,000 letters she received from Delaware troops in Vietnam as a columnist with The News Journal in Wilmington. War letters, first-hand accounts from the front lines, provide a unique window on that conflict and constitute primary source material. Preserving these priceless letters as social history for future generations is critical she believes. After Lynch's book was published in 2008, she faced the dilemma of how to safeguard her letters from Vietnam, thought to be the largest collection of war correspondence ever addressed to one reporter. Learn how—and how not—to preserve letters from any war as well as old family missives and farm journals, from Lynch's informative and interactive program. She will provide a handout of resources for the proper disposition of valuable social records.
- Summer Reading Series - Rehoboth Summer Children's Theatre: Jack and the Beanstalk: Thursday, July 27, 10:00-11:00am. Join us at the library for a performance of Jack and the Beanstalk performed by the Rehoboth summer Children's Theatre.
- Think First to Prevent Falls: Friday, September 22, 11:00am-12:00pm. Think First To Prevent Falls is now available as a presentation on the basics of fall prevention for older adults. Topics covered include: Overview of the Brain, Concussion Discussion, Significance of Falls, Fear of Falling, Safety Inside the Home Community Safety, Talking With Your Physician, Nutrition Exercise, Vision, Medications, and Community Resources.

2023 Water Quality Report
Georgetown Water Department
37 The Circle, Georgetown, DE 19947
PWS ID# DE0000592
April 18, 2023

We are pleased to present this year's Annual Water Quality Report (Consumer Confidence Report) as required by the Safe Drinking Water Act (SDWA). This report is designed to provide details about where your water comes from, what it contains, and how it compares to standards set by regulatory agencies. This report is a snapshot of last year's water quality. We are committed to providing you with this information because informed customers are our best allies.

Spanish (Español): Este informe contiene información muy importante sobre la calidad de su agua beber. Tradúscalo o hable con alguien que lo entienda bien.

Do I need to take special precautions?

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/Centers for Disease Control (CDC) guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by Cryptosporidium and other microbial contaminants are available from the Safe Water Drinking Hotline (800-426-4791).

Where does my water come from?

Your water is groundwater that comes from the confined Manokin Aquifer and the unconfined Columbia Aquifer.

Source water assessment and availability

Our source water assessment is available through: <http://delawaresourcewater.org/assessments/>

The Source Water Assessment's Summary of Our System's Susceptibility to Contamination

Overall, Georgetown Water has a moderate susceptibility to nutrients, a moderate susceptibility to pathogens, a very high susceptibility to petroleum hydrocarbons, a moderate susceptibility to pesticides, a moderate susceptibility to PCBs, a very high susceptibility to other organic compounds, a moderate susceptibility to metals and, a moderate susceptibility to other inorganic compounds.

Why are there contaminants in my drinking water?

Drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency's (EPA) Safe Drinking Water Hotline, 800-426-4791.

The sources of drinking water, both tap water and bottled water, include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs, and wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally occurring minerals and, in some cases, radioactive material, and can pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity. In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, EPA prescribes regulations that limit the amount of certain contaminants in water provided by public water systems. Food and Drug Administration regulations establish limits for contaminants in bottled water which must provide the same protection for public health.

Contaminants that may be present in source water include:

- Microbial contaminants, such as viruses and bacteria, which may come from sewage treatment plants, septic systems, agricultural livestock operations, and wildlife.

- Inorganic contaminants, such as salts and metals, which can be naturally occurring or result from urban stormwater runoff, industrial or domestic wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining, or farming.
- Pesticides and herbicides, which may come from a variety of sources such as agriculture, urban stormwater runoff, and residential uses.
- Organic chemical contaminants, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, which are byproducts of industrial processes and petroleum production, and can also come from gas stations, urban stormwater runoff, and septic systems.
- Radioactive contaminants, which can be naturally-occurring or be the result of oil and gas production and mining activities.

How can I get involved?

If you have any questions about this report or concerning your water utility, please call (302) 841-1209. We hold meetings the 2nd and 4th Monday of each month at Town Hall 39 The Circle, Georgetown, DE 19947. We want our valued customers to be informed about their water utility.

Additional information about lead

If present, elevated levels of lead can cause serious health problems, especially for pregnant women and young children. Lead in drinking water is primarily from materials and components associated with service lines and home plumbing. Georgetown Water Department is responsible for providing high quality drinking water, but cannot control the variety of materials used in plumbing components. When your water has been sitting for several hours, you can minimize the potential for lead exposure by flushing your tap for 30 seconds to 2 minutes before using water for drinking or cooking. If you are concerned about lead in your water, you may wish to have your water tested. Information on lead in drinking water, testing methods, and steps you can take to minimize exposure is available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline or at: <http://www.epa.gov/safewater/lead>

Water Quality Data Tables

In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, EPA prescribes regulations which limit the amount of contaminants in water provided by public water systems. The table below lists all of the drinking water contaminants that we detected during the calendar year of this report. Although many more contaminants were tested, only those substances listed below were found in your water. All sources of drinking water contain some naturally occurring contaminants. At low levels, these substances are generally not harmful in our drinking water. Removing all contaminants would be extremely expensive, and in most cases, would not provide increased protection of public health. A few naturally occurring minerals may actually improve the taste of drinking water and have nutritional value at low levels. Unless otherwise noted, the data presented in this table is from testing done in the calendar year of the report. The EPA or the State requires us to monitor for certain contaminants less than once per year because the concentrations of these contaminants do not vary significantly from year to year, or the system is not considered vulnerable to this type of contamination. As such, some of our data, though representative, may be more than one year old. In this table you will find terms and abbreviations that might not be familiar to you. To help you better understand these terms, we have provided the definitions in the tables below.

Definitions

| Unit Descriptions | |
|-------------------|--|
| Term | Definition |
| ppm | ppm: parts per million, or milligrams per liter (mg/L) |
| ppb | ppb: parts per billion, or micrograms per liter (µg/L) |
| NA | NA: not applicable |
| ND | ND: Not detected |
| NR | NR: Monitoring not required, but recommended. |

| Important Drinking Water Definitions | |
|--------------------------------------|---|
| Term | Definition |
| MCLG | MCLG: Maximum Contaminant Level Goal: The level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety. |
| MCL | MCL: Maximum Contaminant Level: The highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology. |
| SMCL | SMCL: Suggested Maximum Contaminant Level for aesthetic contaminants. |
| TT | TT: Treatment Technique: A required process intended to reduce the level of a contaminant in drinking water. |
| AL | AL: Action Level: The concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements which a water system must follow. |
| MRDLG | MRDLG: Maximum residual disinfection level goal. The level of a drinking water disinfectant below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MRDLGs do not reflect the benefits of the use of disinfectants to control microbial contaminants. |
| MRDL | MRDL: Maximum residual disinfectant level. The highest level of a disinfectant allowed in drinking water. There is convincing evidence that addition of a disinfectant is necessary for control of microbial contaminants. |
